REGISTRATION IS NOW OPEN

for

HIV2020: Community Reclaiming the Global Response

Join us in Mexico City 5 - 7 July 2020 for an exciting convening of community leaders from around the globe who are working for the sexual health and human rights of all people.

HIV2020 aims to provide a safe and friendly space for an equitable exchange of information, knowledge, experiences and expertise by ensuring diverse voices are heard and reflected. The conference will be key population-led, inter-disciplinary, sex positive, and will focus on a diverse range of topics including community-led responses to HIV, universal health coverage, decriminalization, and much more!

Before completing the application questions, please read the information below

REGISTRATION

Applications to participate in HIV2020 must be submitted via the online registration form. Submitting a completed registration form does not guarantee participation. Registrations will be reviewed by the organizers against various principles and balances, including quotas to guide equitable representation across key populations. Registrations will be reviewed on a rolling basis and may be waitlisted in order to ensure the full involvement of a diverse range of communities.

The registration fee to attend the three-day conference is USD 500 for participants age 30 and up. Participants aged 29 and under will be charged USD 180. Registration closes 30 June 2020 or when maximum number of participants has been reached. Registration for the HIV2020 Conference is not confirmed until receipt of payment.

The registration form requests personal information to be provided. This is to help the organizers to ensure equitable representation from across various communities. Also see the Privacy Policy.

Individuals must be at least 18 years old to register for HIV2020. Participants under 18 years old must be accompanied by a person 18 years or older. Those 17 or younger may request a consent form via email, which is to be completed by their parent or guardian or legal representative with the corresponding duty of care and returned to the organizers. Upon approval by the organizers, the online registration can be completed, including the details for both the participant under 18 and their accompanying person. The organizers may determine, revise and apply criteria to assess the eligibility and completeness of registrations submitted. If the maximum participant capacity is reached, the conference organizers reserve the right to refuse additional registrations.
SCHOLARSHIPS

Our communities are central to the conference. Partial and full scholarships are available to ensure balance in participation across key populations. The deadline for scholarship applications is January 31, 2020! Please indicate the level of support you need to attend HIV2020 in your registration. Scholarship applicants are encouraged to raise funds to cover some of the cost for participating in HIV2020.

To contribute to fundraising efforts for the community scholarships please visit www.hiv2020.org/donate or contact the organizers.

INDIVIDUAL REGISTRATIONS AND CHANGES

Individuals can submit only one registration for one participant. The e-mail address provided will be linked to that individual’s registration and cannot be used as part of another registration.

Once a registration is submitted, any additional information, corrections or other changes must be requested via email: Request to change personal information. Changes cannot be made by submitting a second registration. Duplicative registrations may result in neither application being accepted.

PAYMENT OF REGISTRATION FEE

Once your registration has been accepted, information will be provided about payment of the registration fee. Payments may be made by electronic bank transfer, credit card or PayPal; personal, company and bank cheques are not accepted. The organizers cannot be held responsible for any payments to accounts other than the HIV2020 bank account that will be provided in the payment instructions.

Registration for the HIV2020 Conference is not confirmed until receipt of payment. HIV2020 participants must be able to provide proof of payment or scholarship award to have access to the HIV2020 conference venue. If full payment has not been received by the deadline in the acceptance confirmation, the registration will be cancelled.

All registrations, including community members, media representatives, academics, health workers and other professionals from any country, should be submitted using the online registration form, and have the same rights and obligations related to registration and participation in HIV2020.
VISA SUPPORT

HIV2020 organizers will provide information to support participants requiring a visa for travel to Mexico. Letters of invitation will be provided to any participant requiring one.

If a participant’s visa application was unsuccessful or a visa was denied whilst the registration fee had been paid, the registration fee (minus a handling fee) may be refunded after the conference upon proof that (1) the visa application – including any appointments required as part of the application process – was made before 1 May 2020 and (2) all relevant documents were submitted in accordance with the visa application requirements and the guidance provided by the organizers.

SUMMARY OF TERMS & AGREEMENT

By submitting registration for the HIV 2020 conference, registrants declare to have read and to agree with Terms & Conditions and the Privacy Policy.

Registration requires personal information to be provided. Such information is requested for the purposes of facilitating decision-making and other processes to ensure equitable representation from the various communities and geographical regions and age-groups. The HIV2020 Privacy Policy describes how personal details will be managed, in accordance with requirements of the EU General Data Protection Regulation.

HIV2020 organizers will ensure data is processed in compliance with EU General Data Protection Regulation. The personal information provided is necessary to organize the HIV2020 conference, which registrants are applying to attend, to review such applications, to review requests for financial support to enable participation in HIV2020, to generate purchase orders and payment requests, to confirm registration by e-mail, to create participants’ badges and to allow modification of registrations (if necessary).

Data may also be processed by the organizers upon legitimate interest: to promote activities by informing you about the conference, to show offers from partners and sponsors, to obtain analytics on HIV2020, to create networking opportunities by including your name and organization on the list of participants. You are entitled to refuse permission for your data to be used for any of these data processing operations. See the Privacy Policy for more information on how personal data is processed, protected and how to can request personal information to be removed or not to be included for specific purposes.

This information may be updated between now and the conference.